Dear delegates,

It is an honor to welcome you to NHSMUN 2027! My name is Estibaliz Jimenez, although almost everyone calls me Esti, and I am really excited to be your director for UNHRC Session I. This will be my fifth and final year as part of NHSMUN, which makes this experience really meaningful to me. I am so excited to close this chapter of my life from a different perspective and, most importantly, to meet all of you.

I am currently 19 years old and in my second year of law school at Universidad Anáhuac in Mexico City, where I was born and raised. I am also part of my law school's student council, where I have the opportunity to get involved with my school and contribute to the activities that they give us. Before college, I attended Prepa Anáhuac México Campus Cumbres, and it was thanks to them that I started my NHSMUN journey five years ago. I was a delegate for three years, participating in SPECPOL in 2023, WHA in 2024, and the Security Council in 2025. Last year, I had the opportunity to be an assistant director for UNHRC, so this committee truly has a big part of my heart. However, some of the most meaningful things I have gained from NHSMUN have happened outside of committee. Over the years, I have met some of my closest friends from all around the world through this conference, both as a delegate and as a staff member. I am incredibly grateful that NHSMUN has brought me so many amazing people into my life that have eventually become family.

Outside NHSMUN, some of my favorite things to do are spending time with my family and friends, playing board games, reading, and listening to music. Some of my favorites are Gracie Abrams, Taylor Swift, Olivia Rodrigo, Olivia Dean, and Sombr. I also love walking my dog, Bella, who is a 14-year-old Yorkie and, without a doubt, one of my favorite pets in the world. During my time at college, I had the opportunity to work at a law firm for a year in the foreign trade and immigration area. This experience allowed me to see firsthand how connected countries, governments, and people are.

One of my favorite things about NHSMUN has been the opportunity to discuss real life issues with people that have different perspectives. As a delegate, I learned the importance of public speaking, preparation, negotiating, and teamwork for real life, which has been one of the most important things that I have ever learned. My goal as your director is to be a guide through every single step, so please never hesitate to reach out if you have any questions or concerns. After five years, some of my favorite people and memories have come from this conference, and now it is time for you to make some of your own. Good luck with your research, enjoy the process, and have fun along the way!

See you in committee!

Dear Delegates,

Welcome to the United Nations Human Rights Council! My name is Anna Field, and I am so honored and excited to serve as your director for NHSMUN for Session II this year!

Currently, I am a rising sophomore at the University of California, Riverside, studying psychology and planning to minor in political science or public relations. I started Model UN my freshman year of high school in a competitive program that gave me plenty of room to grow and bond with my peers. While this is my first year serving as director, I was a NHSMUN delegate myself in 2024, where I competed in CCPCJ. During my first year of college, I began interning for FoxSports Radio 1350, filming on-site stand-ups at sporting events. This is an opportunity I do not think I would have had the confidence to pursue if NHSMUN hadn't pushed me out of my shell and taught me to find my voice as a public speaker.

Throughout my MUN experience, I've gravitated toward humanitarian topics, often competing in UNHRC committees or on pressing humanitarian emergencies in the UN Security Council. I encourage every delegate reading this briefing to put themselves in the shoes of those imprisoned, silenced, or targeted simply for speaking out. Recognize that behind every statistic is an individual human life affected.

Of course, MUN is only one part of who I am, and I think it helps to know a little about the person leading you through the committee. Outside of public speaking and debate, I run Track & Field for UCR's Division 1 program. My other hobbies include sewing (my most recent project was a fluffy miffy stuffed animal), singing with my friends (even though I have no business singing out loud), and being outdoors.

With that said, I am so excited to trade my sewing needle for a gavel and cannot wait to see the passion you bring to this year's UNHRC committee!
