Hello everybody!

My name is Sophia Chen, or Sophie, and I am excited to introduce myself as the Session I Director for the UNSC-A committee!

For some fun facts about me: I am an ex-competitive parkour athlete, and I now do it for leisure. If you are curious, I am happy to show clips of me competing. I am a big fan of traveling, especially visiting UNESCO World Heritage sites. As of writing this I am at 28 sites! I am a 2nd-year Physics student with a side interest in Marine Biology and Science Education at UCSB (physics and I have a love-hate relationship). I also work at an aquarium as a docent and social media manager!

I have spent the entirety of my high school career as a delegate, and I have attended NHSMUN twice! Once as a delegate and once as a staff member. I am now returning for my second year as a staffer, and I am extremely stoked to be back! I was also the Director General of my high school program, SCVMUN; however, I am very happy to be retired and returning as one of the staff I used to manage. Model UN was a critical experience in shaping who I am now, so I'm excited to be returning to the world of diplomacy!

I am hoping that your time with NHSMUN will be as fruitful and inspiring as mine was, and I will be trying my hardest to create a wonderful crisis environment for you all! I know that the UNSC can feel daunting, but my advice is to remember that this is a simulation, and we want this experience to be personally fulfilling to you. Don't be afraid to speak up and let yourself be known! Anyways, I hope you all have a fantastic and relatively low-stress experience with us at NHSMUN's UNSC-A committee! We are here for your learning experience, so if you have any questions, please feel free to reach out to me or any of the other wonderful staffers.

Cheers,

Sophia Chen

Hi everyone!

My name is Chloe Nguyen, and I am so excited to serve as one of the directors of the United Nations Security Council-A this year! It is so nice to be meeting you through this letter, but it is going to be even better meeting you all in person.

I currently attend UCLA as an international development studies major, and I love my school so much! I never thought I would be super school spirited, but it is genuinely one of my favorite places. I also currently work at an immigration law firm, and I have a blast hanging out with my coworkers every day. In my free time, I like to read (I like thrillers), hang out with my sister, go shopping, and I also got into making sourdough this summer!

I started in Model United Nations in high school, and I continued all four years of high school. Like most people, MUN became so much more to me than debate or speeches—it became about the people I met, the experiences I encountered, the amazing places I went to, and the skills I learned. Because of how much I loved my experience in high school, when I began college, I decided to join Bruin MUN, the Model United Nations program at UCLA, as well as NHSMUN. I competed in NHSMUN one year as a delegate while in high school, and I returned last year as an assistant director for UNSC-A.

I hope that your experience at NHSMUN gives you the same spark of excitement and joy that it gave and continues to give me. To be honest, my favorite part of being in MUN is the connections I am able to make with anyone at any time. MUN has a special way of bringing people together and because of that it holds a very special place in my heart. You all have put so much hard work into your research and into your preparation for this conference. You got this! Remember to have fun along the way and not take yourself too seriously. I am always happy to answer questions, give advice, and be friendly. I am rooting for you!

Chloe Nguyen
